

Nyon, June 2023

New theScreener equity reports theScreener launches a new generation of its well-known stock reports.

We are thrilled to announce the newest generation of our equity reports! More relevant information, yet easier to understand.

We want to highlight some of our new sections:

- Our key points, a concise summary of the most impactful information about any stock, helping to quickly find the most relevant facts needed in the investment decisions process.
- An enhanced Checklist, which now shows our rating for the stock's industry, in addition to the stock-specific rating. If the stock is not doing well but the industry is, it might be interesting to take a good look at the competitors.
- A holistic company description, including a wide array of information such as major products, provided services, markets in which the company operates, and much more. Seamlessly introducing the reader to exciting new investment ideas.
- An innovative map compares the analyzed company and its peers with respect to their dividend yield and target price potential.
